In Ahmedabad, Rajendra Joshi’s organization SAATH has helped transform slum areas into functioning neighbourhoods and helps slums residents set up schools, install sewer lines and lobby municipal corporations for electricity, water and better roads.

Dear Friends,

The past year has been a global challenge; an economic depression and Climate Change have been the focus for the world at large. The words Sustainable Development never seemed more needed than in the current scenario. For SAATH, the year heralded the change that was needed within our work in order to make each programme more sustainable and more viable. We have always worked towards being self-sufficient, and now with the global awakening we are re-thinking, re-evaluating and re-designing how we can get there faster.

The Urban Resource Centres (URC) have become enablers for inclusion and empowerment of communities and help define the urban poor as a market. The URCs and Umeed/Udaan, the youth employability programme are in the process of expanding across Gujarat and Rajasthan. This injection of confidence by our partners and the people we work with has helped us re-confirm the commitment we make every year. The Urmila-Home Manager programme, is now recognized as a high quality service to people in Ahmedabad. It aims at expanding beyond the boundaries of Ahmedabad in the coming year. The Microfinance initiative has grown to a 10,000 strong member base and now has 5 field offices. This year we closed our 4 year association with the 191 ICDS centres in Ahmedabad, many positive changes were effected in them and it is our belief that they will be able to sustain themselves from this point forward. SAATH has also initiated work with child labourers, construction workers and informal youth groups in the city.

We have outlined the sectors, which we will focus on in the years ahead: livelihoods, health and education, microfinance, women, children and youth, Bottom of the Pyramid, rural areas, knowledge management, research and documentation.

The year also brought to a close 20 years of Saath, and opened the door to a world of limitless possibilities. It has been a time of reflection, introspection and thanksgiving for each of us at SAATH. Our celebration was made whole by the participation of the people, who have made this milestone possible.

Our team has expanded and currently has 232 full-time members. I would like to take this opportunity to thank all our Board members, funders, supporters, volunteers, staff and critics over the past 20 years. Your constant and honest feedback and insight helps us closer to our mission of, 'Creating Inclusive Cities'.

To the changing times and changing with the times!

Urmila is currently a network of 200 Home Managers under 5 Franchise Managers and spread across wide areas of Ahmedabad. Home Managers come from areas like, Sarkhej, Vasna, Behrampura, Shahpur who cater to clients in Satellite, Bodakdev, Vastrapur and other newer areas. Urmila is proving to be a sustainable and successful business model. With a strong base in the city now, Urmila has plans to venture into other cities of Gujarat, developing a specialized training module, and developing a network of male home managers.

In the past year, 4 training sessions were held, through which 124 women were trained. 80 of these home managers were placed and 2 new franchisee managers were also identified and trained. Within the existing module a practical aspect was added in terms of cooking, housekeeping at a client's home, first-aid training with St. John’s Ambulance (Certified by the Ministry of Health and Family Welfare). Urmila, now is a 89.5% financially sustainable and 10.5% is still dependent on Saath's funds.

"We feel that such services in a metropolitan city like Ahmedabad is the best choice for many working couples like us. By recruiting and training the socially and economically challenged ladies and giving them an opportunity to overcome the barriers of challenges in the backward areas is an effort worth appreciating. We extend all our support to Saath."

Kunal Mahindroo
Client, 4+ years

"I joined the Urmila programme in 2002 as a home manager. After 6 years, I decided to take a leap and take up the responsibilities of a franchise manager. This was possible because of my family’s support and because of my confidence, which was instilled in me through the experience as a home manager. After becoming a franchisee manager, I took two loans for personal reasons through the savings and credit cooperative. I was linked to this through Urmila. My work in Urmila has enabled me to earn a respectable living and also gain my family’s respect and support."

Varshaben Dabhi
Franchisee Manager

"Urmila strives to build the spirit of social entrepreneurship amongst women, along with inculcating the importance of self-dependence."

Livelihood Resource Center

The first Livelihood Resource Center opened in Behrampura on 26th February 2008. Within its first month of its opening, LRC had 67 members.

The Livelihood Resource Center aims to support UMEED and UDAAN graduates as they navigate the professional world. The LRC provides an outlet for youth to access post-placement support. The LRC counsels members and advises them on how to tackle on-the-job issues and maintain a proper work-life balance. Members can seek advice directly from the counselor at the LRC or when the LRC makes its monthly phone calls to members to monitor their progress.

With a network of partner employers, the LRC helps members secure mid-level positions that provide more responsibility and upward trajectory. For those youth who are unemployed or facing difficulties with their current jobs, the LRC assists with skill and resume refinement and then works to find members new positions that better suit their needs.

This “cyber café” format allows youth to keep their computer skills sharp, practice English, learn new programs or stay current with e-mail and news.
Jamnagar Slum Development Initiative in its first year has done a great deal of work. Through surveys and intensive research slums to work in have been finalized. The surveys were carried out by youth volunteers from within the communities. The problem areas and their solutions have also been identified through these surveys. Hanuman Tekri, a slum area in the city has been identified as the project site. The slum has 1,024 houses and a total population of 5,748.

The problems identified in this area were, lack of awareness about savings and credit due to low income levels, lack of infrastructure, gutters, sewage, toilets, illiteracy, lack of awareness about health and hygiene.

A knowledge sharing workshop was conducted, to discuss the results of the survey in Hanuman Tekri. The community was invited and approximately 40 people both men, women and youngsters participated in the workshop. With their support, Special Help Groups (SHG’s) were created. Currently, 3 SHG’s have been created with 12 people in groups. Savings accounts have also been opened with a local bank. Clean Home competitions, recipe making competitions and celebrations for Republic Day were carried out to involve the women and children of the community. These activities were carried out under a six-month plan developed keeping this area in focus. The community is an active participant in the process, even more so since they have been involved in the process from the starting point.

Jeevandan
This programme of SAATH has touched lives of many women and children since its initiation in 2004. Today, Jeevandan reaches out to 10 wards across Ahmedabad through which 91,519 pregnant women and 1,08,817 are benefitted. Capacity strengthening is an important aspect of this programme which has resulted in better sustainability. The Jeevandan programme has provided substantial focus on raising capacity of both the programme partners (Saath and AMC) by providing technical guidance and skills to communicate effectively.

The Different Trainings conducted in the past year has improved the efficiency of the people working with Jeevandan. These trainings sessions were held for Community Health Team (CHT) members- old and new link workers and medical officers. These sessions improved their on-field efficiency, increased the knowledge bank about maternal and child care and also developed better communication skills. There training sessions were held throughout the year and hence small doses of information have created a greater impact in Jeevandan.

Events Held

Breastfeeding Week, 1st to 7th August 2008: Through intense field based activities, positive awareness was created about breastfeeding. The important objectives of this exercise were, promoting the importance of colostrum, early initiation of breastfeeding and exclusive breastfeeding, Creating awareness about proper diet of pregnant/lactating women and Advocating good practices related to breastfeeding/nutrition.

Couple Day, 7th September 2008: This event was held to capture the male counterpart’s interest in health and nutrition of women. 49 couples participated in this endeavour. It focused on the safe maternal and child survival efforts.

Fair at Shardaben Hospital, April 2008: The fair was conducted in order to promote Jeevandaan IEC material and strengthening relationship with AMC and other NGOs.

Golden Book, 9th September 2008: A Golden Book was created in order the document all the data regarding the volunteers working with Jeevandan. Data like educational background information, skill sets is recorded in this book. This process will be bilaterally beneficial as the agency would get expertise to get a certain task done while it will create employment opportunity for the volunteers.

Integrated Child Development Scheme (ICDS)

Since 2004 Saath has been facilitating and supporting 191 aanganwadis in 22 wards of Ahmedabad under ICDS. Saath’s facilitation over 4 years has increased the participation and involvement of parents and youth from the communities as volunteers in the aanganwadis. With the support of HDEC the facilities at the aanganwadis were improved. The children were provided with basic amenities, like drinking water at the aanganwadi. They were also taken to Kankaria Zoo for a field trip. This gave them good exposure to the outside world. The students were made to go through regular health check-ups and timely vaccines were also given.

A research was conducted to identify the gaps in the ICDS system. One of the gaps identified was the focus on Pre-school Education. It was also found that the aanganwadi worker and assistants needed special trainings and support in terms of volunteering as well. Regular trainings over and above the prescribed trainings were provided on different teaching techniques and understanding child psychology. This has positively impacted the teaching at the 191 aanganwadis.

Parents were encouraged to be a part of the process undertaken at these centres. They also contributed monthly fees of Rs. 20, which was spent on celebrating festivals and improving facilities at the centres. They now hold monthly meetings to discuss the progress and upcoming programmes at the centres. The aanganwadis also have become hubs where linkages to other SAATH programmes were created.

Hearth

To increase community participation in the improvement of nutritional levels amongst children, a new concept, Hearth kitchen was initiated. In this programme, a community kitchen is set up with 12 mothers who prepare food for the children. They were made aware of the nutritional requirements of infants and also given information on hygiene and sanitation.

Tuberculosis Dots Programme

Saath initiated a TB Dot center in Sankalitnagar with the support of TB Control Society. Between April 2008 and February 2009, 55 patients were identified in this area with TB and were enrolled into this programme. Currently these 55 patients are undergoing treatment at the TB Dot center.

Balghars

Currently six balghars are operating in Sankalitnagar. These six balghars are run by 12 teachers and have 192 children. These balghars follow a specialized curriculum and home visits are made to monitor parents’ participation in the child’s welfare. Trained teachers guide these children through their early years. Activities like the bal mela was held in December and all festivals were celebrated in the course of the year.
In this Information Age, in Ahmedabad the common man can access information about services and schemes through a regulated number of City Civic Centres, and through various media including the internet. The URC is a platform that provides information, services and linkages, run by CBOs, and situated within slums. It links poor families, migrants, women, children and youth with information, knowledge and services from government, NGOs, and private agencies. There are 4 URCs working since 2007 in Vasna, Shahpur, Behrampura and Juhapura wards, reaching out to over 22,000 households.

URCs reach out through door-to-door visits by trained volunteers from the community. To ensure accountability and transparency each URC has a Committee made up of representatives from the community, Saath, another local NGO, CBO, government, private sector and the elected ward representative. URCs carry out participatory research, studies, surveys to evaluate and monitor services offered or needed and to increase the bargaining power of poor families; empower people with information about their rights, duties and responsibilities; create awareness through a community video unit that is run by a group of youth trained from the community; build capacities for groups through training, workshops, exposure visits; carry out micro planning with individuals, families, and communities; and using a Citizen Report Card methodology.

It links people with services such as microfinance, employment training and opportunities for women, men and youth, insurance, and health facilities, and linkages to education facilities. The community readily pays a nominal charge for the services that goes towards the upkeep and maintenance of the centres and the staff.

Income Earned by the URCs in 2008-2009
Vasna: Rs. 1,26,977
Shahpur: Rs. 16,816
Behrampura: Rs. 46,748
Juhapura: Rs. 16,624

“After the initiation of the URC, it has given me a great exposure to the outside world. I have been associated with SAATH since it began 20 years ago in 1989. Since last 2 years I have been associated with the URC through which I have gotten a chance to increase my network. I am now in many more people in my community and also in the government. Being a URC co-ordinator has helped me choose wisely between right and wrong. I have also now imbibed good leadership skills.”

Surendranagar: Organising Artisans

SAATH Rural programme partnered up with National Institute for Fashion Technology (NIFT), Gandhinagar to create market linkages for artisans in the Surendranagar district. The major focus of the efforts have been to improve their access to resources, materials and develop products that are in demand in the current market scenario. Artisans practicing indigenous crafts like, Single Ikkat, Silk Patola, Tangaliya, Khadi, Stone and Brass are the primary focus of this programme.

Maliya: Natural Resource Management

The SAATH Rural Programme, has been concerned with Natural Resource Management carried out in the Maliya block of Rajkot District. It focuses its efforts on supporting and upgrading qualities of lives of the communities in this area. This is done through looking into basic infrastructure related to agriculture, drinking water and other basic amenities.

The Community Video Unit (CVU) which was set up in 2006 and has proved to be one of the successful community mobilization models. The CVU was set up with the help of Video Volunteers, New York and Drishti Media. The core team comprises of five producers and four distributors. The video magazines are researched, scripted, produced and directed by this team in accordance with an Editorial Board. Screenings are held everyday within different communities through wide screen projectors at night and normal T.V.s during the day time.

In the past year, a summer workshop was held in April 2008 for children from slum communities, between 12-16 years of age. They decided on gender bias as an issue and came out with a video magazine, AAVU KEM?. The participants were charged Rs. 100 for this workshop but it received an remarkable response. Also, in April 2008 Samvad's film was entered in the Fulmarxx Film Festival. Through this Film Festival, Samvad's film was screened in the local multiplex. Other three video magazines were produced during last year, SAMACHAR SAMVAD on Inflation, EK AAWAZ, a film made on the topic of Domestic Violence and AASHAYEIN on quality of education in government school. Another film funded by the Wadhwani foundation was made on Disability, PEHCHAAN. These issues surfaced from community discussions and were taken up. This year, Samvad's screening reached out to 42,044 through 679 screenings across five to seven wards in Ahmedabad.

Samvad is in the process of expanding its reach by identifying new areas for screenings. To make Samvad a self sustainable model, new business ideas are being incorporated like out of community shoots, CSR films. With this, Samvad team is ready to take on new challenges.

“I have not studied beyond 6th grade. Today, at 38 I have a family of 5 to support. I used to be a scooter mechanic to make ends meet. I also used to help my community in any which way possible. I got in touch with SAATH in 2002 while volunteering at a riot affected relief camp. I got interested in the kind of work they did and decided to offer my services to them. Today I am a producer with the CVU and I take films to different areas for screening. The CVU has become an integral part of who I am.”

The Samvad Team.
The past year was a turning point for the Savings and Credit Cooperative. It moved into a Business Development mode and has been restructuring and re-working its strategy to increase its efficiency. Under the CARE India project, Snehal the MFI team, in consultation with ACCESS Development Services (ACCESS) worked on redesigning products and services offered to its client base. The Cooperative moved into Joint Liability Group (JLG) loans from lending to individual members, this has increased the repayment rate from 60 per cent to 93 per cent over the past year.

The new savings products introduced in the year were:
The compulsory deposit of Rs. 100/- per member per month (Rs.3, 500 lock-in amount, over and above can be withdrawn). The interest rate for this is 6% per annum.
The Voluntary savings means any additional amount other than Rs. 100 per month can be saved by the member at an interest rate of 6% p.a.

JLG Loans are to be disbursed to a Joint Liability Group (JLG). The group should consist of 4 6 members. All the members of the particular group have to sign a “Mutual Agreement Form” and be willing and ready to take the responsibility to repay each other’s loans as well, in case of default on the part of any member. All members are equally liable to repay the loan within the tenure of the loan, irrespective of the loan amount they have taken.

Within its new framework it also upgraded its MIS with the help of Syscon Solutions Limited. The new software known as MPower has been installed and the team has been trained in its usage. The governance of the programme also was re-structured with a CEO, Operations Manager, MIS Manager, Finance Manager, Branch Managers (5) and Internal Auditors and Accountants.

It focuses its efforts on supporting and upgrading qualities of lives of the communities in this area. This is done through looking into basic infrastructure related to agriculture, drinking water and other basic amenities.
The working of the artisans' upliftment is done by diving the geographical area into three clusters, they are, Wadhvan, Muli and Limdi. The process of upliftment is carried out via a two way process. These are the two ways through which the efforts of upliftment have been made successful. The first one is the formation of the Federation of Producers' Group- SUVAS. The second one is Raw Material Bank which is a platform for the artisans to take loan at low interest rates. The efforts have strategically been made to develop local level institutions that would further carry the processes for the benefit of the artisans. An organized hierarchy consisting of the members themselves helps in processing work, both ways, faster. The communication time is decreased and the benefits are increased. A Tangalia Association too has been set up. GI Patent for Tangalia and Silk Mark for Patola is being processed through NIFT.

SUVAS Foundation was registered on April 24th, 2008. The executive body consists of 18 members who represent the three clusters. The members are of both genders. The Executive body is selected by the other members. Today, there are 683 women and 506 men from 20 villages who are members of SAVAS Foundation. The membership can be obtained through a nominal fee of Rs. 51 which covers their insurance also.

Raw Material Bank has been a highly successful concept which can be envisaged as a fully fledged business enterprise by SAATH. With RMB the interest rates have been reduced to 1% for 15 days and 3% for 30 days. Till now there has been 100% recovery rate and this service has been used by 327 artists. The first RMB was set up at Kataria for raw mulberry silk. Process of Procurement is initiated at the SHG level and now. Special RMBs for cotton and tangalia have also been piloted.

“I lost my father at an early age and I live with my mother. I used to run the household by venturing out to the sea to catch prawns during the season like many other fishermen. But due to poor financial conditions I could never afford to have the correct equipment to yield good prawns. To get the equipment I would have to approach a richer fisherman to rent the equipment. Last year he charged 50% of the prawn catch and the profit. But with the CSPC supported loan I could create my own asset and buy the required equipment. Even though the prawn season was shorter this year, I made Rs. 45,000 out of which I paid back Rs. 5000 for the loan. Now I have enough money to last me the entire year.”

“The Saath Rural Programme supported by Care India through Snehal I and II carried out Natural Resource Management activities in the Maliya block of Rajkot district. It focused on agriculture, drinking water and other basic amenities.

The Maliya Block in the Rajkot District is a highly saline area since it is adjoined to Rann of Kutch. Upgrading the infrastructure of its natural resources was one of the most critical interventions. Some key assets created in this process were, farm bunding, farm ponds, land leveling, check dam repairing, drinking water pipeline, dhobi ghat, cattle trough, well repairing and water drainage, rain water harvesting tanks and drip irrigation sets.

Through these structures health and nutrition levels were also enhanced. The program focused mainly on pregnant women and lactating mothers, infants of 0-1 yr and adolescent girls. This was done through popularizing and supporting 88 Mamta Divas in these villages, an initiative of the State Government. A link between the community and the Government has also been set up through Rural Resource Center at the Maliya Taluka Development Office. The Adolescent Learning centers, 6 for boys and 6 for girls which has seen numbers like, 97 boys and 173 girls.

All these programs with its services have reached out and helped 90 women and 264 men this year. And the money collected from 354 services was Rs. 11,045.00

Co-ordinator, Saath Rural Programme
The Research and Documentation Cell was restructured in November 2008. It has been working with various programme teams to create systems for reporting and documentation for various groups.

The SAATH and SAATH Umeed websites were re-structured and a new SAATH URC website was launched.

In the coming year the RDC will also focus on strategic fundraising for various programmes and brand building for Saath and each of its programme.

Internships at Saath

The RDC has also taken on the role of facilitator for the Internships at Saath. In the past year 6 interns, from USA, UK, Australia and Russia have worked with the MFI, RDC, Umeed, Health and Education, and the Saath Rural programme. It plans on institutionalising internships at Saath to bring about tie-ups with various National and International Academic Institutions.

Teach India

Saath participated in the Teach India campaign organised by Times of India. Saath carried out an orientation for 70 volunteers of which, 13 volunteers stayed for the entire period, from the 22nd of December 2008 till 31st March 2009. These volunteers worked with the Vasna and Juhapura centres for children between the ages of 5-14 years. Two batches were of those aged between 5-8 years and 9-14 years. In total there were 72 children that were taught in Vasna (42) and Juhapura (30).

Studies Conducted by Saath in 2008-2009

1. Comparative study in 191 Aanganwadi Centres, Ahmedabad. Identification of gaps in the centres that restricted complete facilitation of the Pre-school education component.

2. Baseline Survey of Sankalitnagar area of Juhapura, it covered basic issues of livelihood, education, micro-credit, disability, health, basic amenities. A follow-up 3 year Integrated development programme is being done in Sankalitnagar by Saath.

3. Between October 2008 and May 2009, a health assessment of Juhapura was conducted, to better understand the major health concerns of the urban poor of the area. Saath believes that these recommendations, if implemented, will reduce government health costs in the future, and improve the health equity of the city.

4. Study on Construction workers in Ahmedabad. The study has led to creating linkages for this section with relevant institutions such as micro-finance, trade unions, training institutes, universities, non-governmental organizations (NGOs) and other civil society organizations.
Saath Turns 20

Two Decades and the Journey Continues

Started in a humble surrounding by two people, today SAATH accommodates a huge family under its tree. SAATH has branched into providing holistic facilities to the urban poor. Going beyond the urban poor, SAATH today also extends its services to the rural areas of Gujarat. Numerous amounts of people have benefited from one or more programmes of SAATH. To commemorate the successful twenty year journey of SAATH, a celebration was held in Ahmedabad. The event marked an important step in the journey of SAATH. The community, the people, partners and supporters were the guests of honour at this event. Memories were shared and stories recounted about then and now. The evergreen tree of SAATH is still strong and growing because of its strong roots.

Saath as a family re-committed itself to making tomorrow a better one and working for issues that go beyond one 's self. Every challenge is an opportunity and every problem has a solution, our values have been tested and have brought us through many trying times. It is with new hope and a firm belief in what we do, that we look forward to the next twenty years and more. Creating inclusive environments in both cities and villages.

UMEED-UDAAN promotes customized programs for targeted youth in the age group of 18-35 years from economically weaker sections and enables them to gain access to opportunities for sustainable livelihoods and growth in the new emerging economy. In the last financial year, the programme has spread its reach to a larger geographical area benefiting many more people. It has opened its centers in 11 other districts of Gujarat and has also initiated centers in 6 districts of Rajasthan.

During the financial year 1st April 2008- 31st March 2009, SAATH initiated new centres in Odhav Aslali, Gomtipur, Saraspur, Sardarnagar, Bapunagar, Ranip, Chandkheda, Chandlodia, D-Cabin and Vastrapur in Ahmedabad. (A detailed list of all UMEED centers is provided on the last page of the Annual Report.)

"I had left my studies after my 12th std because my college was very far off. One day, I came across a road show organized by the Umeed Programme. They guided me to the Dariapur Umeed Center. When I went there I chose the course of Office Administration out of the many. I was placed in Krishna Web Express- Reliance Communication as Customer Relation Executive. I earn Rs. 4,000 which adds to the Rs. 5,000 that my father earns. The job not only gives me monetary benefits but also gives me a new challenge to live for. After this experience I have decided to resume my bachelors course and get a degree. I am very proud to be a part of this programme and I am grateful to Umeed for providing me with all its services."

Bhoomika Yadav
Ex-Student, Umeed

As of March 2009, The Umeed programme has enrolled 5744 females and 9659 males making it a total of 15,403 students out of which 8548 were successfully placed. At the onset of the new millennium, when the world was going through a metamorphosis, in the remote slum of Ahmedabad, a new revolution was starting to take place. A woman in her 30s wanted to venture out of the house but could not without depending on her husband. Through her children, this woman was introduced to a new world of Balghars, run by SAATH under the health and education programme. Repetitive trips to the schools ignited a flame within her to try something new. She became a teacher with Balghar. Within three years, she initiated a new Balghar center in her own community. SAATH sent her to a training programme in education, but she wanted to do something new. She joined the Urmila Home Manager’s Programme. She took training under this programme and is now SAATH office’s home (office) manager. Through her association of 8 years with SAATH, she has benefitted from the microfinance schemes, savings schemes, insurance and other financial assistance which has today made her future more secured. From being a meek looking woman who no one would take notice of, today Shobhanaben and her family with the support of SAATH are a happy, confident, and self-sustainable urban family. With a gleeful smile, she declares, “Being associated with SAATH has turned my life around 360 degrees. More and more happiness has entered mine and my family’s lives.”
